

Resources and tools to support NHS trusts in going smokefree

NHS trusts can access a range of support to assist them in implementing NICE public health guidance PH48: Smoking: Acute, Maternity and Mental Health Services.

Guidance and self-assessment tools

PHE NICE PH48 self-assessment tool for acute trusts

The self-assessment tool supports all of the recommendations applicable to acute services in NICE PH48, breaking the guidance down into four areas:

- systems required to implement the guidance
- communication required
- training that will help staff to successfully implement the recommendations
- treatments that should be available to support staff and service users

PHE suite of resources including a self-assessment tool to support the implementation of NICE guidance in mental health settings

NHS England supplementary guidance for the national CQUIN 'Preventing ill health from risky behaviours – alcohol and tobacco'

PHE menu of preventative interventions to support implementation of local sustainability and transformation plans

PHE Tobacco control: joint strategic needs assessment \(JSNA\) support pack – good practice prompts for planning comprehensive local tobacco control interventions in 2017-18 (includes chapters primary care, secondary care, and supporting pregnant women and people with mental health problems to stop smoking)

PHE advice to inform policy development on e-cigarette use in public places and workplaces

Good practice examples and key learnings from implementation

London Clinical Senate Helping Smokers Quit Programme report, including key learnings and recommendations to assist clinicians, commissioners and providers

The programme webpage also provides access to relevant presentations, briefings, training materials and factsheets

Training

National Centre for Smoking Cessation and Training (NCSCT) free online training module Very Brief Advice on Smoking

For more information and resources, search for PHE's 'campaign resource centre' or email: cleartobaccoteam@phe.gov.uk